An Alleged Plot to Kill Armour.

It is reported that last Thursday night two strangers took a room at the Grand Palace hotel on North Clark street. One of Palace hotel on North Clark street. One of them registered as Thomas F. Quinn, of Denver. The other did not register, but claimed to be from New York. Occupying an adjoining room to that of the two men was James B. Fitzgeraid, a former employe of Mr. Armour. About midnight Mr. Fitzgeraid was attracted by a conversation between the two men in the adjoining room. Putting his ear to the keyhole be heard what he says startled him—a plot to take Mr. Armour's life. According to the plans of the men it was arranged that the following day a bottle of drugged wine was to be sent to Mr. Armour purporting to be frem sent to Mr. Armour purporting to be from Potter Palmer calling the attention of Mr. Armour to the rare quality of the wine.

At the hour appointed the following day when the wine was to be delivered at Mr. Armour's residence on Prairie avenue, I tragerald was there in waiting and received it from the district messages how.

ritgerald was there in waiting and re-ceived it from the district messenger boy, who said that the bottle had been left for delivery at the office on Wabash avenue. Fitzgerald reported the affair to Mr. Ar-mour, and an analysis of the wine is said to have shown that it contained sufficient poison to kill three men.

poison to kill three men.

At the Grand Palace hotel the register showed the name of Thomas F. Quinn, registered from Denver, but the clerk said Fitzgerald was not a boarder there, nor had he been. Quinn came to the hotel Thursday night, paid for his room in advance, and occupied it but one night. The room on one side was occupied by George A. Walker, a theatrical agent, and the one on the other by a Swede girl. The clerk had the other by a Swede girl. The clerk had heard of no such conversation in the hotel

The Winter Pork Packing.

The Cincinnati Price Current says: The winter packing season closed on Monday, and the Price Current has made special offort to present at this time a close approxi-mation of the entire packing in the West during the four months ending March 1. during the four months ending March 1. With a justifiable estimate for Chicago, definite or nearly exact figures for all other points of prominence, and returns from a large proportion of the minor places, the whole representing over 25 per cent of the aggregate packing, the indicated total forthe season is 7,750,000 hogs, against 8,173,000 last year, a decrease of about four hundred and twenty-five thousand. It is not practicable to make a comparison in regard to average weight of hogs. The indications favor a moderate increase, possibly 3 to 5 per cent, compared with last year. The total manufacture of product will closely approach last year's production. approach last year's production.

The total packing for the week has been about 180,000 hogs, against 275,000 last year.

In the provision trade there has been only moderate speculative activity, but a good movement of product for consuming districts, and fairly good export clearances, although short of corresponding time last year in both meats and lard. Holders are not urging product on the market at cur-rent values, and the trade finds little incli-nation to anticipate future necessities. Ad-vices from British markets are suggestive of a good business being realized and con-siderable confidence on the basis of present BEBLIN, March 7.—In view of the wide publication in Hodand and other countries of a newspaper article of a newspaper article reporting that triching had been found in American pork at Utrecht, Mr. Theodore M. Schleier, the at Urrecht, air. Incoore al. Schleier, the American consul in Amsterdam, has ad-dressesed a circular letter to the American consuls throughout Europe saying that the exact facts of the Utrecht case were that forty-eight pieces of meat were inspected and in one piece only were trichime found. Mr. Schleier adds: "These are the whole and in one piece only were trichine found. Mr. Schleier adds: "These are the whole facts in the case, and it stands to reason that the finding of the trichine in unsuspected perk in countries where the previous insportion is not required should not prove an impediment to its use in countries requiring inspection."

Another Man Rescued.

Dr. Tandy, the specialist, is still diligently pursuing the arch enemy of the human family, whisky, and is steadily vanquishing him from our midst. New victims are constantly coming and surrendering uncon-ditionally, and declaring their allegiance to the doctor. In conversation with a recent convert, THE GAZETTE man gleaned as fol-I at first was decidedly skeptical, when advised by my wife to see and talk with Dr. Tandy about his method of treatment. I also felt a little timid about approaching him, and after walking around him several times in the corridor of the Pickwick hotel, I finally gave him the wink, and he followed me it toward the bar. When I made known to him my business I was still weak and vascill ting in my determination; felt like my friends sing around knew what my mission vas. After arranging the preliminaries and my ling an engagement I left. The next mo sing I met the doctor and commenced my scatment. I had conjectured the most howible ideas of it, and was agreeably superised to find that it was very simple and mannoying—only a hyperdermic injection once a day, about five minutes' time consumed. I experienced a change for the better at the beginning, and now I am cured and feel better than I ever did in my life. The doctor can cure anybody. I will never drink any more liquor, and I shall never want to, either. A person him, and after walking around him several and I shall never want to, either. A person who has not experienced the feeling may think I am 'reckoning without my host,' but such is not the case. No man who has his own or his family's interest at stake should let the lack of maral courage cause him to miss the opportunity of hairs 'reahim to miss the opportunity of being 'rescued from the gutter.' Even if he has the thirst for whisky, and has not drank for a long period, it is dangerous and should be eradicated, as he is liable to fall again."

Adopt the safer plan and let Dr. Tandy try his hand on you. He is here for that purpose and expects to stay, and he relies solely on the merits of his treatment for a
